6TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

He said to him, "See that you tell no one anything, but go, show yourself to the priest and offer for your cleansing what Moses prescribed; that will be proof for them." The man went away and began to publicize the whole matter. He spread the report abroad so that it was impossible for Jesus to enter a town openly. - Mk 1:44-45b

Our Challenge

Dear friends:

From this weekend's first reading from the Book of Leviticus we are reminded that the word "leprosy" struck fear in the hearts of our biblical ancestors. Not only was it considered incurable, it was thought to be so contagious that lepers were forced to live in isolation from the rest of the community, including their own families. In our second reading from St. Paul's first letter to the Church he had established in Corinth, Greece, he sets a high standard for them. His teaching was that everything in a person's life should be done in such a way as to bring glory to God. He was sensitive to the feeling and convictions of others, and was an example of what it meant to seek the good of all. In our passage from St. Mark's gospel, we're told that for Jesus to heal a leper would have been astounding to his public, and He healed him out of pure compassion and not to call attention to himself. We should do the good things we do solely for the sake of those we are trying to help, otherwise we are not following the example of Jesus. Emotion is a natural part of our humanity. Try to imagine an unemotional human race! Emotion adds spice, energy, and fire to our living. The problem, of course, is that emotions can only be trusted so far. If we take an inventory, we will discover that emotion has contributed to the best things and the worst things we have done. Our emotions sometimes move us to do the right thing. We cannot depend on our emotions, however. Followers of Christ must establish priorities in advance, and quite apart from emotional situations. How much emotion should there be in religious faith? Imagine how many different answers there might be to this question just among people you know! Since different people would respond differently to this question, there can only be one comprehensive answer: There should be as much emotion in your religious faith as there is genuinely in you. It is important that we neither deny our feelings nor pretend to conjure up false emotions. How we choose to express our emotions is a different matter. But God loves us as we are, therefore we should be honest emotionally.

Have a good week!

Love and prayers,
Father Randy

St. Aloysius Habitat for Humanity

Once again St. Aloysius is participating in the Catholic Coalition Build. Through this effort a deserving family can feel the pride of homeownership (a home that they would not be able to afford except through Habitat). The volunteers and the homeowner working side by side along with an interest free loan from Habitat make the home affordable.

This year's build began Saturday, January 27, 2024. Workdays are Wednesday and Saturday. The scheduled St. Aloysius work dates are listed below. Please consider continuing the St. Aloysius tradition of participation in the Catholic Coalition by working one of these scheduled workdays.

If you have any questions or would like to volunteer, call Kim Boudreaux at 225-205-2870 or boudro@aol.com (put Habitat in the subject line).

There is a job for everyone on the work site.

Saturday, March 16, Wednesday, March 20,
Wednesday, April 17, Saturday, April 20

Lunches are also needed. If you, or a group, are willing to provide lunches for the workers one of these days, please let me know by one of the above contact methods.
